A letter from our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

I am sure that you remember the day of your birth. But do you remember the day of your baptism? Which is more important? If you remember the day of your birth, you're actually not remembering much more than the day you actually started to die, because our fallen human nature is condemned to death. But the day of your baptism is the day you began to live, and to live eternally! Baptism makes us children of God and heirs to heaven, a sacrament which imprints an indelible character on the soul marking us as irrevocably called to divine friendship and grace. Baptism is the response to the gift of faith, of the supernatural virtue which allows us to assent to all that God has revealed about Himself about who He is, what we are to believe and how we are to live. Baptism incorporates us into the Body of Christ, the Church, the life giving waters of the Cross which purify us of original or actual sin and grant to us immortality. If faith comes by hearing the word of God and saying Yes to that truth, baptism evangelizes us by announcing the Good News for us to accept that we are loved, and because of that, we are signed, sealed and delivered for divine mission.

When Christians have a vivid sense of the sacramental and spiritual reality of baptism, and what it means to transform human nature by supernatural grace, we want to learn more. That is how evangelization turns into catechesis, that systematic learning as disciples the Way of the Redeemer. We explore the profound truth, goodness and beauty which is the life of God in us in the Church. We become life-long learners in this incredible adventure of the interior life.

But when that life of grace grows cold or weak in us, because of our flirtation with and cooperation with the evil of sin, we become less who we are. We look back at our own baptism and see nothing more than a merely human rite of passage. We fail to see behind the rite to the reality signified by the rite. That is when we begin to detach from the visible communion of the family of the Church. That is when the corporate worship of the sacred liturgy becomes secondary to worldly pursuits and recreation. We cease to want to learn about God, and we arrest our intellectual development by complacently being stuck at whatever level of catechesis we are at when we give up the practice of the faith.

The Church is watching as, year after year, more and more people leave the faith. We are failing at handing on the faith, at retaining those who have been catechized (often poorly) but barely evangelized. What is the solution to this complex phenomenon? Agnosce, Christiane, dignitatem tuam – Recognize, O Christian, your dignity, as St Leo the Great preached on Christmas in the 5th century! We are probably not going to be able to solve all of the problems of the Church and the world. But when we put first things first and recognize who and whose we are, and communicate that joyfully and intentionally, then we can and will stem the tide of secularization in our own place and time. But that is not the exclusive job of the clergy; it is the common work of all of us who claim the name Christian!

Try This Title: The Case for Jesus: The Biblical and Historical Evidence for Christ

Dr. Brant Pitre, scripture scholar and bestselling author, uses biblical and historical evidence to bolster the "case for Jesus" by exposing the problems with the many false theories that have been introduced over the past hundred years resulting in widespread skepticism about the reliability of Christian faith. He tackles head-on questions like: Were the four Gospels written anonymously? Did Jesus claim to be God? Did Jesus fulfill the Jewish prophecies of the Messiah? and many more.

John Paul II offers age old truth with a freshness of thought that explains how "feminine genius" is essential to building a civilization of life and love. To order a study guide ($35), contact Angela Calabro.
- A co-ed study meets Thursdays at 7p in Parish House meeting weekly to learn about St. John Paul II's Theology of the Body! What does it mean to be a human person created in the image and likeness of God. We will use Men and Women are from Eden by Dr. Mary Healy and Man and Woman He Created Them: A Theology of the Body by St. John Paul II (optional). For more information contact Angela Calabro.
