A few months back I mentioned a book by Gary Chapman called The Five Love Languages about how communication in human relationships has to take into consideration the way that we all communicate in different ways. I recently came across another book by him, coauthored with Jennifer Thomas entitled, When Sorry Isn't Enough: Making Things Right With Those You Love. I think all of us have had moments when we felt that an apology offered to us was insincere, or that we said sorry to someone and did not really mean it, or that we felt that we did everything in our power to seek forgiveness and reconciliation, but that it wasn't understood or accepted by someone we love.

Human relationships are delicate things, and in an age in which we are pressured to bail on things when the going gets tough, asking for and receiving forgiveness is not always easy. Building on the concept of love languages, Chapman and Thomas posit that we also have "apology languages" that we understand lead to more fruitful attempts at restoring fractured partnerships, whether they may be marriages, friendships or coworker situations.

I think everyone knows that communication is the key to any successful relationship, but it is not merely enough just to talk to one another. There are often all kinds of hidden assumptions, conscious and unconscious, which compromise or threaten the way that we try to fix and heal those relationships. The book is also notable, not only because of some pretty sound psychological insights, but biblical as well.

We know that Our Lord tells us to forgive each other, not just once, or seven times, but seventy times seven (which in scriptural symbolism is an indication of completeness). But what does that mean when someone does not ask for our forgiveness and we want to move on without being bitter, or when someone thinks he has said sorry but we just don't feel we can accept the apology, that there is something not "right" with it?

As Christians, we have a duty to foster good friendships, marriages and working relationships. In a broken world burdened by sin and shame, we don't always have a lot of resources to do that well. But we know that giving and receiving love is the key to our happiness. Learning to be humble, ask for and receive forgiveness and be men and women of pardon and peace is harder than we realize: but it is also the true path to spiritual freedom.

Fr Smith

all souls day-wednesday, 2 November

The entire month of November is dedicated to the Holy Souls in Purgatory; those who have died "in God's grace and friendship, but still imperfectly purified, are indeed assured of their eternal salvations; but after death undergo purification, so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of Heaven" (CCC 1030, Purgatory).

The Church teaches us that it is an act of charity to pray for our deceased brothers and sisters that God may forgive them their sins and welcome them into the fullness of His Presence. We celebrate Holy Mass for all who have died and are on pilgrimage towards Christ. A plenary indulgence which is applicable only to the Holy Souls in Purgatory is granted the Christian faithful who devoutly visit a cemetery on All Souls Day and recite the Lord's Prayer and Creed. More information will be in the All Souls packet that will be in the bulletin on 23 October.

12p EF Mass
7p EF Requiem Mass

All registered households received 2 All Souls Day envelopes in their Sept/Oct packet. One is for the offertory on All Souls Day and the other is to write on the back the names of your beloved deceased. Please complete and drop the envelope in any collection during the month of October, so that those names will be placed on the altar of remembrance on All Souls Day and every Mass throughout the month of November.

november is the month of all souls Please forward to Maria Rauch the name of your loved ones who died since All Souls Day 2015, so they can be read aloud before the 7p Mass on Wednesday, 2 November. We will have a Board of Remembrance at the St Joseph Altar, which will be set up as a Requiem Altar for the month of November. Please bring copies of photos of your loved ones to pin to the board. At the end of the month of November, the Board will be taken down and the pictures will be collected and stored in the Parish Office.

There will be a candle placed on St Joseph's Altar for each parishioner who died since All Souls Day last year. After the month of November, family members are asked to pick up the candle from the Parish Office.

This week: Mary: The Indispensable Mother of God
Tim Staples explains the incredible impact that the Church's understanding of Mary has on our spiritual lives, and the profound way that Marian doctrines and dogmas safeguard what we believe about her Son. Using penetrating insights and humor, Tim shows how correct knowledge of our humble Mother reveals our own identity in Christ, and empowers us to say "Yes" to God!

religious ed This year we've had a lot of change in Religious Education at the Parish. One of the biggest changes has been moving RE from Wednesday night to Sunday morning. We would like to report that registration for RE has increased with the move. This year we currently have 180 students. Last year there were approximately 145 students (this number includes last year's 8th grade class).
We have a huge class of RCIC students who all are in need of First Holy Communion. These students are in a variety of grades and have all missed out on the normal 2nd grade participation. Our teachers have already done a great job transitioning from Wednesday night to Sunday morning. We are grateful for their commitment to these children. RE at the Parish is off to a great start!

prince of peace t-shirts If you would like to purchase a Prince of Peace T-shirt, or you have pre-ordered T-shirts and have not picked them up, please contact Angela. at pastoral.associate@princeofpeacetaylors.org or 331-3903 to schedule a time to do so.
We will also have them available for purchase at the Church Picnic on 30 October.

The mission of Prince of Peace is to share the fullness of the Gospel to all we encounter in our lives by equipping disciples to create and strengthen a personal relationship with Christ. By the grace of God, we are called to strive for personal holiness, participate fully in the vibrant life of the Church's Tradition and transform the world.
