The Church has always prized the efforts of Catholic musicians to adorn her worship. But the Church has produced her own music for the Mass, which is contained in the Graduale Romanum. This music is often referred to as Gregorian Chant. In chant, one line of melody is sung, either by a cantor, a small schola, or the people. It is the music proper to the Church, even if she also admits other music as well. It is beautiful music, oriented towards prayer and devotion. At Vatican II, the Council Fathers wrote, "The Church acknowledges Gregorian chant to be especially suited to the Roman liturgy . . . it should be given pride of place in liturgical services." [11]

The Mass includes two categories of prayers which are sung in chant: the Ordinary, which includes those parts of the Mass that do not change, like the responses and the Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Sanctus and Agnus Dei; and the Proper, which includes the prayers the priest sings as well as the Introit, Gradual, Alleluia or Tract, Offertory and Communion Antiphons. Often the Ordinary is sung according to a chant melody, and often the Propers are as well.

The faithful are encouraged to join in the singing especially of the Ordinary. Again Vatican II: "Steps should be taken so that the faithful may also be able to say or sing together in Latin those parts of the Ordinary of the Mass which pertain to them." [12] Those parts of the patrimony of Gregorian chant in the Mass are part of our Catholic tradition. We encourage our people to learn the Church's own music, and participate in it. You can even go on our website to and learn to sing the Ordinary of the Mass in Latin or English that we use at the parish.

We also recognize that the Church has always been a great patron of music. Part-singing, particularly by choirs, has always been a part of our tradition, and it is here at Prince of Peace as well. We have several choirs for adults and young people, and they study and sing at Mass polyphonic anthems and motets, particularly at Offertory and Communion at Sung Masses. We encourage you to join one of our choirs and to make a special contribution to the musical expenses of the parish, so that we can continue to offer high caliber sacred music at Mass.

Those of you who have been to our Wednesday 8.30a School Mass may be amazed by the fact that our children are growing up in a liturgical environment where they learn both English and Latin Church music, and at a very high level. I am often amazed by adults who complain, "It's just too hard, and I don't understand it!" Mass is not a spectator sport, and we have to put something into it to get more out of it. Studying the Mass and endeavoring to learn the music of the Church creates a beautiful and unique Christian culture. Let's learn together!

Legion of Mary Annual Highlights– Our Lady of Lourdes Praesidium, Prince of Peace Catholic Church

Door to Door - Knocked on the door of a lady and told her we were with the Legion of Mary and invited her to come to Mass. She responded by saying her Protestant church had closed and she was looking for a new place to worship. We gave her a copy of the bulletin with the Mass times and told her we also had Masses in Latin and Spanish and she would experience a real reverence in the Liturgy. She said that was awesome as she was tired of all the churches that were like concert halls instead of places of worship and she took Latin in high school. I gave her my phone no. and told her when she was ready call me and we would make sure one of our Legionaries was in the Narthex to meet her and sit with her at Mass so she wouldn't feel like a stranger.

Assisted Living Rosary Visits - One of our Legionaries introduced us to a lady at Greenville Place. Several of our Legionaries visited and prayed the Rosary with her and several other Catholics and Non-Catholics on a bi-monthly basis. In some cases there were more Protestants praying the Rosary than Catholics. The lady was recently transferred to McCall Hospice House in Simpsonville and I was blessed to be there and pray the Rosary with her and our fellow Legionaries the last time she was fully alert, we asked her if she would like to be anointed and she said yes. Since she was a parishioner at Saint Mary Magdalene and most of her family was from Michigan and Canada, we called Father Runnion to come and administer the Anointing of the Sick. He was there within an hour of our call.

Prison Ministry - One of the female inmates that had been talking with us was Catholic and was so glad for the contact and to hear that the Blessed Mother was there for her. A Protestant inmate in the cell next to her had never heard of the Blessed Mother and so it was explained how she intercedes for us with Jesus just like she did at the wedding of Cana. The Eucharist was also explained. There really is a great hunger for all things Catholic in the Greenville Detention Center. The Catholic was recently released and she is now back and attending Mass.

Abortion Clinic Rosary and Sidewalk Counseling - Several of us participated in the 40 Days for Life. A couple of the Legionaries are faithfully at the Abortion clinic every week praying and have talked with several women that have turned their cars around and went to the Greenville Women's Clinic next door instead of having an abortion. One lady stopped and thanked them for their prayers.

Funerals - The Legion tries to be present at any funeral for POP Parishioners. We have found in every instance the families are so appreciative of our presence at Mass especially at those funerals where it is only a few family members and friends. Many of the children of the family have been away from the Church or are Protestant and do not know when to kneel, stand etc. Our goal is to make them feel comfortable by seeing us so they know when to kneel etc. during the Mass.

These are just a few highlights over the last year. There are many more cases where we have felt the presence of the Holy Spirit and the Blessed Mother during our work. If you are interested in joining the Legion of Mary as an active member or an auxillary member contact Bob Mauritz at 641.5265.
