From our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

The prefect of the Congregation for Divine Worship, Robert Cardinal Sarah, has written a powerful book that I am convinced will be one day considered a modern spiritual classic. The Power of Silence: Against the Dictatorship of Noise is more than just a plea for more quiet time in our lives: it is a rich theological meditation on themes as varied as the silence of God in the face of genocide and the absence of engagement when under attack by others. I want to share you with some salient quotes from a recent interview he gave about the book.

What the Church needs most today is not an administrative reform, another pastoral program, a structural change. The program already exists: it is the one we have always had, drawn from the Gospel and from living Tradition. It is centered on Christ Himself, whom we must know, love and imitate in order to live in Him and through Him, to transform our world which is being degraded because human beings live as though God did not exist.

We are the victims of the superficiality, selfishness and worldly spirit that are spread by our media-driven society. We get lost in struggles for influence, in conflicts between persons, in a narcissistic, vain activism. We swell with pride and pretention, prisoners of a will to power. For the sake of titles, professional or ecclesiastical duties, we accept vile compromises.

God is silence, and the devil is noisy. From the beginning, Satan has sought to mask his lies beneath a deceptive, resonant agitation. The Christian owes it to himself not to be of the world. It is up to him to turn away from the noises of the world, from its rumors that run headlong in order to turn better toward what is essential: God.

Our busy, ultra-technological age has made us even sicker. Noise has become like a drug on which our contemporaries are dependent. With its festive appearance, noise is a whirlwind that avoids looking oneself in the face and confronting the interior emptiness. It is a diabolical lie. The awakening can only be brutal.

Silence teaches us a major rule of the spiritual life: familiarity does not foster intimacy; on the contrary, a proper distance is a condition for communion. It is by way of adoration that humanity walks toward love. Sacred silence opens the way to mystical silence, full of loving intimacy. Under the yoke of secular reason, we have forgotten that the sacred and worship are the only entrances to the spiritual life.

As we depart on our vacations and slip into the dog days of summer, it's time for us to experience the silence of God, even in the midst of our ordinary world.

Fr. Christopher Smith
