Letter from Our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

Robert Cardinal Sarah, the Prefect of the Congregation for Divine Worship, has written a new book which will be published in English on 1 September as The Day is Now Far Spent. You can pre-order it at https://www.ignatius.com/The-Day-Is-Now-Far-Spent-P3301.aspx. For the next two weeks, we will whet our appetite for the book by excerpts from an interview with The Catholic Herald on 5 April.

5) You dwell at length on the crisis of the priesthood and argue for priestly celibacy. What do you see as the primary cause in the cases of sexual abuse of minors by priests, and what do you think of the summit that just took place in Rome on this question?

I think that the crisis of the priesthood is one of the main factors in the crisis of the Church. We have taken away priests' identity. We have made priests believe that they need to be efficient men. But a priest is fundamentally the continuation of Christ's presence among us. He should not be defined by what he does, but by what he is: ipse Christus, Christ Himself. The discovery of many cases of sexual abuse against minors reveals a profound spiritual crisis, a grave, deep, and tragic rupture between the priest and Christ.

Of course, there are social factors: the crisis of the '60s and the sexualization of society, which rebound on the Church. But we must have the courage to go further. The roots of this crisis are spiritual. A priest who does not pray or makes a theatre out of the sacraments, especially the Eucharist, a priest who only confesses rarely and who does not live concretely like another Christ, is cut off from the source of his own being. The result is death. I have dedicated this book to the priests of the whole world because I know that they are suffering. Many of them feel abandoned.

We, the bishops, bear a large share of responsibility for the crisis of the priesthood. Have we been fathers to them? Have we listened to them, understood and guided them? Have we given them an example? Too often dioceses are transformed into administrative structures. There are so many meetings. The bishop should be the model for the priesthood. But we ourselves are far from being the ones most ready to pray in silence, or to chant the Office in our cathedrals. I fear that we lose ourselves in secondary, profane responsibilities.
The place of a priest is on the Cross. When he celebrates Mass, he is at the source of his whole life, namely the Cross. Celibacy is a concrete means that permits us to live this mystery of the Cross in our lives. Celibacy inscribes the Cross in our very flesh. That is why celibacy is intolerable for the modern world. Celibacy is a scandal for modern people, because the Cross is a scandal.

In this book, I want to encourage priests. I want to tell them: love your priesthood! Be proud to be crucified with Christ! Do not fear the world's hate! I want to express my affection as a father and brother for the priests of the whole world.

Fr. Christopher E. Smith

Try This Title: A Scriptural Walk Through the Mass

For Catholics, the Mass is entirely familiar, but often not well understood. Scripture scholar and well-known author Dr. Edward Sri takes listeners on a journey through the sacred liturgy that is sure to help Catholics experience the Mass more fully as the most powerful and important prayer of the Church. Dr. Sri examines the historical and biblical roots of the words, prayers, actions, and gestures contained within the Mass in order to arrive at a deeper understanding of their significance.

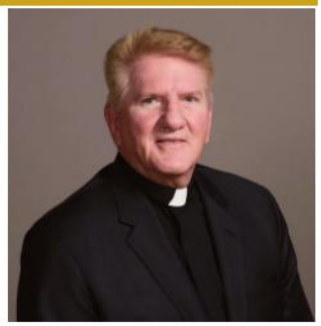
retirement of Msgr Moczydlowski



St. John the Beloved Catholic Church sadly announces the retirement of our beloved Pastor, Msgr. Chet Moczydlowski. His dedication, grace and spirit will be deeply missed but we can only be happy for him after his 46 years of devoted service to the Catholic Church. Since April 1, 1991, Msgr. Chet has served several parishes in South Carolina, including St. James in Conway, Resurrection in Loris, Prince of Peace in Taylors, the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist in Charleston, St. Andrew in Myrtle Beach and St. Benedict in Mount Pleasant. Please join us, Friday, May 24th, 6:00-8:00pm at the Dorchester Shrine Club, 2150 Beech Hill Road, to celebrate his many years of commitment and dedication. RSVP, before Monday, May 20th, is required
