Letter from our Pastor

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

We have some fun celebrations coming up in the next ten days, even in the midst of Lent! This Thursday is the Feast of Saint Joseph. It's Fathers' Day in many Catholic cultures, and we want to invite all of our fathers, and in fact, all of our menfolk, to celebrate being men after the heart of Christ. At 6p, we will have a Solemn English Mass followed by a Procession to the PAC and a party to celebrate. It's a solemnity, so you're freed from any extra Lenten fasting and abstinence that day! Honor your fathers by treating him to an evening out with the family!

Next Sunday is Laetare Sunday, the mid-point of our Lenten penitential season. The purple vestments are replaced by the rose of approaching joy; flowers adorn our altars once more, and the organ sounds one more time before Easter! Wear your rose to join in the fun. This Sunday is also known as Refreshment Sunday, and in England it was common to eat a light fruitcake called simnel cake (which I personally do not care for, but hey, it's tradition!) on this day. Google it if your inner Catholic baker wants a fun dessert to give us strength for the rest of Lent! This Sunday is also known as Mothering Sunday, which is why we do our blessing of expectant mothers on the rose Sundays of Advent and Lent. If you have a friend, even if they're not Catholic, who has a bun in the oven, invite her and her family to church for this blessing at the 10a Mass. This is also traditionally Mothers' Day in Catholic cultures, so gentlemen, maybe you should work on the simnel cake this week and surprise the mothers of your children this Sunday.

Wednesday, 25 March, is the feast of the Annunciation. I've never understood why the day that commemorates the Word assuming human flesh in the womb of the Virgin Mother has not been a Holy Day of Obligation since 1910. I mean, we wouldn't have Christmas if it weren't for that day! Like St Joseph's Day, it is a solemnity, so treat yourself in a spirit of celebration. We have our School Mass at 8.30 that morning, and please join us if you can to mark the day that changed history forever.

If we view our Lenten journey as a wandering through the desert, which the readings bear out, these three moments are like brief stays at watering holes at oases in that desert. The Church wisely puts them in our path so we can not grow too weary. Might as well take full advantage of them!

Fr. Christopher E. Smith

your catholic home

17 March is the Feast of Saint Patrick. Born in Scotland, Patrick was captured by raiders at the age of sixteen and sold as a slave in Ireland. While tending sheep, he prayed often. After six years, a voice from Heaven told him to go home. Patrick returned then went to Rome and became a priest. Patrick begged the Pope to send him back to Ireland. The Pope made him a bishop and sent him as a missionary to Ireland. Patrick worked miracles and taught about the One True God. He was arrested and the pagan king asked him to tell about the God who had given him great power. Patrick taught that there was but one God in three persons. He used a shamrock to teach about the trinity: three leaves on one stem, just like three person in one God. Patrick spread the Christian Faith throughout Ireland and his missionaries brought the Faith to many parts of Europe. To celebrate St. Patrick at home: eat the traditional Irish corned beef meal on this day! Play the CCC video of St. Patrick for your children. Make shamrock-shaped pancakes for breakfast to teach about the Trinity. Because St. Patrick is said to have banished the snakes from Ireland, make a fun snake craft or put gummy worm "snakes" in lunchboxes. Don't forget this day is not about "luck and leprechauns" but instead about an incredible saint who was famous for teaching about the Trinity and sharing the Faith. So wear green, eat green foods, celebrate all things Irish but don't forget to use this day to teach about the Holy Trinity: three-in-one!

what did the church do in previous times of plague?

What did the Church do in previous times of plague? A cross approved in 1575 by the fathers of the Council of Trent as protection against the plague; originally developed by St. Zacharias, Patriarch of Jerusalem in the early seventh century. Zacharias was held in captivity for many years by Chosroes, King of the Persians, who had also taken the True Cross from Jerusalem. Bishop and cross returned to the holy city together.

The text refers to the prayer that should accompany its appropriate use. It can be placed over a threshold or a door, or possibly used in other contexts.

+ O Cross of Christ, save me.

Z. May zeal for your house free me.

+ The Cross conquers; the Cross reigns; the Cross rules; by the sign of the Cross free me, O Lord, from this plague.

D. God, my God, drive this plague away from me, and from this place, and free me.

I. In your hands, O Lord, I commend my spirit, my heart, and my body.

A. Before heaven and earth God was; and God is able to liberate me from this plague.

+ The Cross of Christ will expel the plague from this place and from my body.

B. It is good to wait for the help of God in silence, that he may drive away this plague from me.

I. I will incline my heart to performing your just deeds, and I will not be confounded, for I have called upon you.

Z. I had zeal on occasion of the wicked; seeing the peace of sinners, I have hoped in you.

+ The Cross of Christ puts demons to flight; corrupt air; and drives away the plague.

S. I am your Salvation, says the Lord; cry out to me, and I will hear you, and I will liberate you from this plague.

A. Abyss calls to abyss, and you have expelled demons by your voice; liberate me from this plague.

B. Blessed the man who hopes in the Lord, and does not look upon vanities, and false extravagances.

+ May the Cross of Christ, which was once the cause of scandal and indignity, and is now in glory and nobility, be for my salvation, and expel from this place the demon, and corrupt air, and plague from my body.

Z. May zeal for the honor of God convert me before I die, and in your name, save me from this plague.

+ May the sign of the Cross free the People of God, and those who trust in him, from the plague.

H. Will this foolish people return to the Lord? Make good on your vows, offering a sacrifice of praise and faith to him, because he is able to liberate this place and me, from this plague; for whoever trusts in him will not be confounded.

G. If I will not praise you, let my tongue stick to my throat and to my jaws; free those who hope in you; in you I trust; liberate me and this place, O God, from this plague, for your name has been invoked in prayer.

F. At your death, O Lord, darkness fell over the whole earth; my God, render the power of the devil tenuous and dim, for it is for this that you have come, O Son of the living God: so that you might destroy the works of the devil with your power, drive out from this place and from me, your servant, this plague; and may the corrupt air depart from me into the outer darkness.

+ Defend us, O Cross of Christ, and expel from this place the plague, and free your servant from this plague, you who are kind, and merciful, and of many mercies, and true.

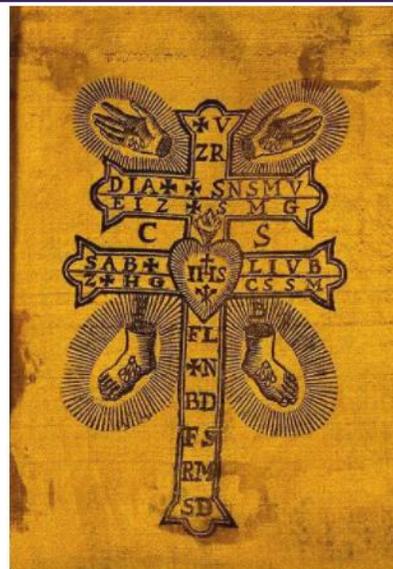

B. Blessed is he who does not look upon vanities, and false extravagances; on the day of evil the Lord will free him; Lord, I have trusted in you; free me from this plague.

F. God has become my refuge; because I have trusted in you, free me from this plague.

R. Look upon me, O Lord my God, Adonai, from the holy seat of your Majesty, and have mercy on me, and because of your mercy, free me from this plague.

S. You are my Salvation: heal me, and I will be healed; save me, and I will be saved.
