Letter from Deacon Gus

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

Dear Friends in Christ,

“She could never be a saint, but she thought she could be a martyr if they killed her quick.” Flannery O’Connor, A Good Man is Hard to Find and Other Stories.

This week we celebrate the feast day of St. Thomas More, the brilliant English lawyer and scholar, who rose to become Henry VIII’s chancellor, only to be executed for his unwillingness to recognize the King’s unlawful marriage to Anne Boleyn and the King’s claim to be the head of the English Church. With good reason, More is lauded for his glorious martyrdom, where he was beheaded after declaring that he was “the King’s good servant, but God’s first.” There is something oddly romantic about the idea of martyrdom. I suspect that many of us like to think that we, like our spiritual forefathers, would be ready and willing to die for the Faith in one last blaze of glory. But the truth of the matter is that most of us, God-willing, will never be called to be saints through a red martyrdom. For the vast majority of us, our path to sainthood does not lead to a coliseum or gallows, but rather meanders through the ordinary and familiar confines of our homes, workplaces, and parish. And herein lies the beauty and appeal of Thomas More’s life. Although More was a martyr, his life makes clear that he became a saint not so much on the executioner’s block on Tower Hill, but within the brick walls of his Chelsea home.

More’s home life was wonderfully busy and messy. More’s two marriages (his first wife died early in life), while happy, had their share of hardships. More was an affectionate father, but with four children, two foster children, and at times, a pet monkey, his home was unsurprisingly loud and lively. At a time when women were not educated, More provided all of his children a classical education at home. Additionally, More’s house was frequently filled with friends that he would entertain—sometimes too long for the taste of his wife.

It was in this extraordinarily ordinary environment that More developed the virtues that would make him into a saint. He cultivated a deep prayer life, attending Mass daily and regularly praying the Divine Office and litanies. He meditated on his faith, writing beautiful reflections and treatises. He engaged in frequent acts of charity and penance, including fasting and other ascetic practices. All of these things, however, did not create a dour personality; rather he seemed to radiate mirth and joy, according to his good friend, the philosopher Erasmus. It was the virtues that he developed and graces that he received in the most common of places that prepared More for his imprisonment and martyrdom and made him into the Saint he was. In the same way, we should pursue our salvation in the world we live in, not in a world of our imagining.

May St. Thomas More help us to find our own roadway to sainthood, whether it be through our messy family rooms or cramped home offices. St. Thomas More, pray for us!

In Christ,

Deacon Gus Suárez

endow women's study meets wednesdays

Join our women's group on Wednesdays at 7p to dive into a new Endow study on St. Teresa of Avila called Teacher of Prayer. The group meets in the main school building, Lourdes Hall.

To purchase the book, go to this link. The first chapter is free and will take several weeks to cover. At the heart of this study is the passionate, unrelenting love of St. Teresa of Avila, the famous 16th century Spanish nun who became the first female Doctor of the Church. With her feminine heart and deep spiritual wisdom, St. Teresa helps us embark on the spiritual journey that takes place within our souls. She guides us through what she coined "The Interior Castle," where Christ abides in the center of our being. Her profound insight, conveyed in this study, leads us to a deepened relationship with Jesus, which empowers us to become pioneers like St. Teresa of Avila, forging our way with love through the new, exciting, and often challenging frontiers we face in life.

meet Melissa & her son Noah

Melissa and Noah (age 6) are native Greenvillians. Melissa owns and operates a photography business, Focus Photography by MP, as well as working as the Marketing & Continuing Education Coordinator for Upstate Vet, Emergency and Specialty Care! And, Noah celebrates all things tractors, cars, reading, Paw Patrol and outdoor related activities! He is a rising 1st grader in our parish school. Noah is a rainbow baby after Melissa suffered a miscarriage and nearly 4 years of fertility struggle.

Melissa was raised in a strong Catholic family with parents who are active at St Mary's Catholic Church. She attended Catholic schools from K-12th grade (St Mary's & St Joseph's Catholic High School). Across the challenges in Melissa's life, she has been incredibly grateful to have parents who instilled how to have a relationship with God.

Most often, you'll find Melissa & Noah at the 5p anticipated Mass on Saturday. They switched to POP in 2017 to be involved in the same parish community as Noah's eventual school community. Noah's godparents, Doug & Jamie Wannemacher, had encouraged them to join, too! In their free time, Noah & Melissa explore the Swamp Rabbit Trail, dine at local TR eateries, and visit the local playgrounds and water parks! They love to spend time on the family farm, too. And, as a volunteer, Melissa spends her free time each year raising funds and putting together donation gift baskets for local Law Enforcement Agencies during National Law Enforcement Week (May) to say "thank you."

Celebrating the Liturgical Life of the Church

An Extraordinary Parish for Ordinary People

26 June: Feast of Saint Josemaria Escriva de Balaguer.

St. Josemaria Escriva was born in Barbastro, Spain, in 1902. Of his five siblings, the three youngest died young. His parents, José and Dolores, raised their children to be devout Catholics. His mother taught Josemaria many prayers he would recite his entire life. In 1915, his father's business failed and they had to move to find work. The family struggled to get by. It was as a teenager that Josemaria first sensed his vocation. Moved by the sight of footprints left in the snow by a barefoot friar, he felt God was asking something of him. He thought becoming a priest would help him discover this calling from God. He prayed fervently, "Lord, let me see what you want."

Josemaria's father died in 1924, leaving him as head of the family. He was then ordained in 1925 and began his ministry in a rural parish. In 1927, Fr. Josemaria's bishop gave him permission to move to Madrid to obtain his doctorate in law. In 1928, during a spiritual retreat, Fr. Josemaria saw what it was that God was asking of him: to found Opus Dei, a way of sanctification in daily work and through a Christian's ordinary duties. The name "Opus Dei" is Latin for "Work of God". (Opus Dei's mission is to spread the Christian message that every person is called to holiness in ordinary life; the idea that every honest work can be sanctified.) From then on, Josemaria worked to spread the ministry of Opus Dei, while also continuing his priestly ministry. He was also studying at the University of Madrid and teaching classes in order to support his family. When war broke out in Madrid, religious persecution forced Fr. Josemaria to exercise his priestly ministry secretly. Eventually, he was able to leave via a harrowing escape across the Pyrenees, and took up residence in Burgos. In 1939, he returned to Madrid and finally obtained his doctorate in law. In the years that followed he gave retreats to laity, priests, and religious, and continued working to develop Opus Dei. In 1946 Fr. Josemaria moved to Rome and obtained a doctorate in Theology from the Lateran University. He was appointed by Pope Pius XII as a consultor to two Vatican Congregations, as an honorary member of the Pontifical Academy of Theology, and as an honorary prelate. He traveled frequently, working to grow Opus Dei. In 1974 and 1975, he traveled through Latin America, speaking to people about their Christian vocation to holiness. Msgr. Escriva died suddenly of a heart attack on June 26, 1975. By the time of his death, Opus Dei was in dozens of countries and had touched countless lives. After his death, thousands of people (including more than a third of the world's bishops), sent letters to Rome asking the Pope to open his cause of beatification and canonization. Pope St. John Paul II beatified Msgr. Escriva on May 17, 1992, in St. Peter's Square. The ceremony was attended by 300,000 people. "With supernatural intuition," said the Pope in his homily, "Blessed Josemaria untiringly preached the universal call to holiness and apostolate." Ten years later, on October 6, 2002, John Paul II canonized the founder of Opus Dei in St. Peter's Square before a multitude of people from more than 80 countries, saying, "St. Josemaria was chosen by the Lord to proclaim the universal call to holiness and to indicate that everyday life, its customary activities, are a path towards holiness. It could be said that he was the saint of the ordinary."
